

Richie Kotzen, Rust

Tell me please how a woman can move you in so many ways then she leaves you alone to let you know how it feels Baby I know I've been wrong to you but these days much too hard

The best years have found a home Fallin the corner of my mind
I know we're not gettin no younger, aint no use hidin what I know it's better to lose at love then to have never loved at all I know tears wont do me no justice, theres only rust in my eyes

I'm on my knees every night prayin for you in my life and now I see very clear what it was I sacrificed Well if I knew what I had from the start I'd have never never let it go this far

All my life I've been hangin on,
but the time ..the time is right... and I am really all right...yeah