

Rick Astley, Letting Go

I'm scared to tell you how I feel
Don't want to be rejected
But I'll take a chance and I'll reveal
And see what gets reflected

It's something that we both know
It's just about letting go
It's something that we both know
It's just about letting go, letting go, letting go

You know my heart, you know my truth
My love is never-ending
I'm only me when I'm with you
Can't we stop pretending

It's something that we both know
It's just about letting go
It's something that we both know
It's just about letting go, letting go, letting go

But do you really get it? (Really get it)
Do you understand it? (Really understand)
Yes, do you really get it? Oh, love
It's just about letting, letting, letting
Letting, letting go
It's just about letting go

Letting go, letting go
It's just about letting go

Every single time I see your face
The memories come back and I can't erase
Every single time I see your face

It's something that we both know
It's just about letting go
It's something that we both know
It's just about letting go

Every single time I see your face
The memories come back and I can't erase
Every single time I see your face
It's just about letting go
Letting go