

Ricochets, I Know You're Gonna Leave Me

i know you're gonna leave me baby this is the ghost of our love i knew all the time you gonna leave me
the Lord is laughing up above

this is the ghost of our love
i knew all the time you gonna leave me
the Lord is laughing up above

we're holding hands and you kiss me baby in a backseat of some car you smile and tell me your little stories i keep to wish upon the stars i've been foolish and i've been stupid could such a beauty be so cold? it serves me right im being beaten by a cupid live and learn and i've grown old and i suspect you will be drive me baby before this morning turns to day

no matter what you say

what am i gonna do?
are we going the same way?
what am i gonna say to make you stay tomorrow too?

i've seen you're face in the bottom of the bottle i wrote your name in (i dont know) i cry for mercy and i stumble over the table and you were gone when i woke

no matter what you say.
