

Ride, Here And Now

The bridge holds back the sky
Can't hold back what's inside
And the train above me
Sounds like the music in my head
My thoughts are undecided
I think it so I hide it
And the train rushes past
Like a day gone to fast

I wish that I was stronger
Could keep my head for longer
I sit and watch my fear
But it won't dissapear
I can dream myself away
Lose myself for days
And the train rushes past
Like a day gone to fast

All I know is here and now
All I know is here and now

And the train rushes past
Like a day gone to fast
And the train rushes past
Like a life gone too fast