

Rina Sawayama, Hurricanes

April showers finally making way for warmer weather
But yet I still feel the same
Doing yoga just to feel untethered but my mind keeps
Running away

Chasing hurricanes
'Cos I can't feel the rain
Second guess my pain
'Cos I've been walking round in chains

So won't you give me a sign if you're really there
'Cos I've been lost inside waiting on a prayer
Until I find your door
Until the wind blows north
I'm running and running
Running into hurricanes

Always wanted to be best at everything
Even when it brings out the worst in myself
So I create a storm and bury it deep
Hiding the key in plain sight
Just in case I need help
Help!

Chasing hurricanes
'Cos I can't feel the rain

So won't you give me a sign if you're really there
Cos I've been lost inside waiting on a prayer
Until I find your door
Until the wind blows north
I'm running and running
Running into hurricanes
So won't you give me a ride, be my getaway
I'm not the girl I tried to be yesterday
Until I find your door
Until the wind blows north
I'm running and running
Running into hurricanes

I'm in a cyclone, spinning, crashed through the floor
Don't give me heaven, I'm flying
Tearing down the doors of this city
Oooh
You know I'm running and running
Running into hurricanes

So won't you give me a sign if you're really there
'Cos I've been lost inside waiting on a prayer
Until I find your door
Until the wind blows north
I'm running and running
Running into hurricanes
So won't you give me a ride, be my getaway
I'm not the girl I tried to be yesterday
Until I find your door
I'm running and running
