

Rj Helton, Love Song

I could reach but I'd never touched the bottom
It's like a road

A road that has no end
I could climb

But I'd never see how high you really are
You are everything

You're all I'll never need

And I

I will sing you a love song
Just to tell you how
You have changed me now and forever I will bless your name
I can't count the ways

You shined your light in the dark till it was gone
I will sing you a love song

I've known tears

Tears of separation
When my heart was broken down in two
But part of me was lost and so confused
But the love you gave

It led me to the truth

Now I

I will sing you a love song
To tell you how

You have changed me now and forever I will bless your name
No I can't count the ways
You shined your light in the dark till it was gone
I will sing you a love song

I will sing you a

A love song

I will sing you a love song
With my heart

With my soul

With my strength

With my mind

With my life

Oh
I will sing you a love song
To tell you

Just to tell you how how you've changed me now and forever I will bless your name
No I can't count the ways
You shined your light in the dark till it was gone
I will sing you a love song

I will sing you a love song

To tell you how you have changed me now and forever I will bless your name
I can't count the ways
You shined your light in the dark till it was gone
So I will sing you a love song
