

Rob McVeigh, Owe It All To You

Was it you? Was it me? I don't know
Were we holding on when we should have let go?
You will always dance in my eyes
But there's something I've gotta say
Before you walk away this time

I owe it all to you
'Cause you showed me a world I could never see
I owe it all to you

Did you know I was longing to fly?
When you held my hand and you told me 'don't cry'
I never thought I'd hear this goodbye
But there's something I've gotta say
Before you turn away tonight

I owe it all to you
'Cause you showed me a world I could never see
And now I know the truth
You were always right there in front of me
There's nothing to hold me back now
Nothing I can't go through
I owe it all to you

How come the damage is done?
The feeling is gone and we can't escape it
Right now I shout it out loud
The chain is so strong but I have to break it
I gotta run, I'm movin' on
But I'm always grateful to you
I owe it all to you
I owe it all to you

I owe it all to you
'Cause you showed me a world I could never see
And now I know that it's true
Yes I do
There's nothing to hold me back now
Nothing I can't go through
I owe it all to you
I owe it all to you
