

Rob Mills, Bad Timing

One little mistake leads to one big problem Slipped out of my hands everything that I ever wanted

Maybe it's karma (maybe its karma)
Maybe it's just bad timing

How could i know
when you walk through the door
That one smile at me
and I won't it all Cos it's you that i've waited so long for but it's always been Bad timing, Bad timing with you

So close to my heart make sure it's just os far away from me
And i thought you were gone
I moved on but now your right in front of me

It's always this way, this game were in loves makes a fool out of me

How could I know
when you walk through the door
That one smile at me
and my whole world would fall
And it's you I've waited so long for but it's always been bad timing, bad timing

It's all those little things how we talk on the phone from dusk until dawn Why can't you be here?
when i'm not with someone else When i'm free, when i'm free yeh
How could i know when you walk throught the door
How could i know....

Well how could I know
when you walk through the door
That one smile at me
And i won't it all
Cos it's you
bad timing, bad timing

when you walk through the door
That one smile at me
tell me why it's always
Bad timing
Bad timing with you
