

Robbie Williams, Forbidden Road ('Better Man' S

I walked along a forbidden road
I had to know
Where does it go
Like birds that fly into the sun
I had to run
I'm not the only one

Why do you look at me that way
I'm not a problem that needs solving
The truth is still evolving
Life is the choices that we make
We're the masters of our own fate
The painter and the paint

You need to lose your mind
To get back to the light sometimes

I walked along a forbidden road
I had to know
Where does it go
Like birds that fly into the sun
I had to run
I'm not the only one

Maybe I'm never satisfied
I made a lot of poor decisions
Yeah I'd make some revisions
And I'm still trying to get it right
I'm a living contradiction
The cure and the affliction

You need to lose your mind
To get back to the light sometimes

I walked along a forbidden road
I had to know
Where does it go
Like birds that fly into the sun
I had to run
I'm not the only one

So do you love me now
Or did I let you down
You said you wanted all my secrets
So I showed you all my demons
Do you love me now

I walked along a forbidden road
I had to know
Where does it go
Like birds that fly into the sun
I had to run
I'm not the only one