

Robert Lamm, You Never Know The Story

I first heard Miles play
A most unusual way
I watched, my friend and I
His uncle junkie get so high, so high
(So high, so high, so high)

He left his records there
Under his folding chair
I took them home with me
I listened and that music
Stayed with me, yeah
(Stayed with me)
Oh, it stayed with me

You never know the story
Of another's broken heart
What was a sweet romance
Was something might have fell apart

You never know the color
Of another's broken dreams
The ending of a love affair
More costly than it seems

Terry was a lucky man
(Fortunate man)
A big hawk with a big plan
(Fortunate man)

His love played far and wide
When he turned away to go
We cried, we cried, we cried, we cried
(We cried)

Lied to ourselves to live
(Lied chump)
Chump reasons that we give
(Time's up)
Time's up before you know
(Time's up before you know)
You give up the ghost and learn
It's love, it's love
(It's love)
Yes, it's love, it's love

You never know the story
Of another's broken heart
What was a sweet romance
Was something might have fell apart

You never know the color
Of another's broken dreams
The ending of a love affair
More costly than it seems
Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah

Think I found a part of me
A little part of me
That I just lost somehow, oh yeah

Bringing up sweet memories
Of the days into my here and now
Oh, here and now

You never know the story
Of another's broken heart
What was a sweet romance
Was something might have fell apart

You never know the color
Of another's broken dreams
The ending of a love affair

You never know the story
Of another's broken heart
What was a sweet romance
Was something might have fell apart

You never know the color
Of another's broken dreams
The ending of a love affair
More costly than it seems
Yeah, yeah, yeah

You never know the story
You never know the story
You never know the story
Might have fell apart
