Robert Plant, Sister Rosetta Goes Before Us

Strange things are happening everyday I hear the music up above my head Though the side of my heart has left me again I hear music up above Secrets are written in the sky Looks like ive lost the love ive never found Though the sound of hope has left me again I hear music up above Standing in my broken heart all night long Darkness heald me like a freind when love was lost Looking for the land thats hidden in the cross The finders love I know I loved you too much Ill go alone to get through I hear rosetta singing in the night Echos of lighting shine like stars after there gone And tonight shes my giude as a girl on the moon With the music up above
