

Robi Rosa, Never Know The Truth

I never know the truth,babe.
I never understood you.
Precious love,I found you,
in these endless days
that are driving me crazy.
And I fell in love with you.
Took you,but you weren't there for the taken.
If I said to you
I understand you.
Love is your truth,
love is your truth.
I never know the truth,babe.
If what you gave me was real love.

Hey,hold on to you when the sunshine.
When the sunshine I found,
to hold you in the moonlight.
And sailing a fire in your boat.
You would kiss a love,to hold.
And you catch him,
thus in my room.

I never know the truth,babe.
These endless days without you are driving me crazy.
But you fell in love,
and you felt along.
And you said you were broken,
how was I know.
The truth of love,
that we were one,
but you were a lie.
Hold for old love in our side.
Was it my misunderstanding,
my misfortune too?

I never know the truth,
I never understand you.
That's why still today
I'm caught up in you.
That's why...
I never know the truth,babe
Never knew what you gave me,
if what you gave me was real love.