

Roch Voisine, Kissing Rain

Another night of fallin' rain
Your memory flickers like a flame
And it comes like it's destined to
And dances on the 4 walls of my room

Your hair as black as the book of frame
You'll have to feel the morning air
Now it doesn't seem so long ago
But how we ever parted, I don't know

Where are you now ? (So far away)
If only somehow, night would disappear
And I could have you here

~ Chorus ~

There's a breeze on the water
Flowing time back to me
And I can still see your face
Kissing rain

We wandered through a hundred days
Watching stars on the halfmondey
Like a season, you were gone
You left me on the frozen April dawn

You were the storm (In the sky)
If only once more
I could be so free
Feel you watching over me

~ Chorus ~

There's a long cool river
Running wild to the sea
I am calling your name
Kissing rain

I'm a prisoner of time
I've changed memory
But how can you be, so free

(There's a breeze)

There's a long cool river
Running wild to the sea
And I am calling your name
Kissing rain

~ Chorus ~

There's a long cool river
Running wild to the sea
And I am calling your name
Kissing rain

~ Chorus ~ * To fade *
