

Rock The SAT, Harbinger

You're a harbinger of good things to come
A sign that it's all changing for me
It's happiness, euphoria, it's something out of a fantasy

Life was so jejune before I met you
It was so ordinary
Prosaic and banal, pedestrian, mundane
Nothing extraordinary
So I took a sojourn, I took a short trip
I needed a respite
A break from the routine that enveloped me, that surrounded me

Well I look back with incredulity
I cannot believe that you rescued me

You're a harbinger of good things to come
A sign that it's all changing for me
It's happiness, euphoria, it's something out of a fantasy
I'm so morose when you're not around
I'm sad and glum when I'm all alone
I've a penchant for your company
Your company is my tendency

We're balanced, you and me
We are symmetry

Let me be a raconteur, a storyteller
Tell you my agenda
A list of ways for us to celebrate, to exult in each other
Turn our love into a wild fire, a conflagration, burning through and through Turn our love into a mosaic
A picture with a million different pieces spelling out the words "I love you"

When I saw you I had an epiphany
A revelation, a moment of clarity

You're a harbinger of good things to come
A sign that it's all changing for me
It's happiness, euphoria, it's something out of a fantasy
I'm so morose when you're not around
I'm sad and glum when I'm all alone
I've a penchant for your company
Your company is my tendency

You're a harbinger of good things to come
A sign that it's all changing for me
It's happiness, euphoria, it's something out of a fantasy
I'm so morose when you're not around
I'm sad and glum when I'm all alone
I've a penchant for your company
Your company is my tendency

You're the state of being supreme
You are supremacy
We're balanced you and me
We are symmetry
Yeah, you're the state of being supreme
You know, you must be supremacy
You're my little harbinger, you're my little harbinger
A sign that things are gonna change
