

Roger Clyne & The Peacemakers, I Speak Your L

I speak your language
You speak my language, too
I may not understand a single word you say
But I understand you
When you smile
All the darkness disappears
When you smile
It's all I need to hear

I speak your language
You speak my language, too

I speak your language
I speak your language

Echo?
Echo!
Echo?

You're my native tongue
You're my daily bread
You're every word I've spoken, every book I've read
Now call my name, call my name

When you smile all the darkness disappears
When you smile
It's all I need to hear

I speak your language
You speak my language, too

I speak your language
I speak your language

Echo?
Echo!
Echo?

When you smile
I speak your language
When you smile
I speak your language

When you smile
I speak your language

When you smile
I speak your language