

Roger Hodgson, Open The Door

Who's to say, who's to know
Where the ship is going to blow
Taking time beneath the trees
State of mind, state of ease

Easy come, easy go
What a life, what a show,
Caught in old familiar ways
Has our love gone astray?...
Gone away?...gone away?...

Open the door ... Open the door
Open the door, I want to be with you
Open the door, I want to play with you

Do what you want to, be who you want to be 'Cause I don't care what you say or what you do to me
I'm having trouble going a whole day without you
Don't want to live if it's a lifetime without you
Come on give me some sing I can see
Come on give me now, show me something

Open the door, I want to be with you
Open the door, I want to play with you
Open the door, I want to dream with you
Open the door, I want to stay with you now...

Right, right on, easy come, easy come
-easy go-easy come
And I know, yes I know that I'm wanting the world to be one
But we take as we please and we can't see the wood for the trees
But I know, yes I know when I open the door I'll
Be home
I want to go home, I want to go home...

Right, right on, easy come,
Easy come-easy go-easy come
And I know, yes I know
That I'm wanting theworld to be one
But we take as we please
And we can't see
The wood for the trees
But I know, yes I know
When I open the door I'll be free
I want to go free, I want to go home...

Open the door, I want to be with you
Open the door, I want to play with you
Open the door, I want to dream with you
Open the door, I want to stay with you now...

Do what you want to, be who you want to be Cause I don't care what you say or what you do to me
I'm having trouble going a whole day without you
Don't want to live if it's a lifetime without you
Come on give me some sing I can see
Come on give me now, show me something

Who's to say, who's to now...
