

Roger Miller, Invitation To The Blues

I couldn't sleep last night I just walked the floor

Don't know how I stand this anymore

Lonely are the times since I lost you recieved your invitation to the blues

I don't know why you caused me such pain

I just hope I'll never go through this much again

Lonely me I don't know what to do recieved your invitation to the blues

[steel - fiddle]

You took the laughter from this world of mine thanks to you the sun will never shine

Walk the floor so much wore out my shoes recieved your invitation to the blues

I don't know why you caused me such pain...
