

Rookie Of The Year, Enjoy This Drive

Hum along, if you find it in your heart to try it and you feel like you're betrayed.
if your presence fell,
then show yourself with confidence.
let it carry you away.

you're a little faster than you were before.
a little better than you already were.
so when the lights go down, don't be shy.
let's give this one last try.
this is one from me to you.

sing along, enjoy this drive while you sit alone.
as you find someone to change.
just give this an hour, let it explain itself to you don't drive away.

you're a little faster than you were before.
a little better than you already were.
let's give this one last try.

and i won't, go on saying this forever.
don't do this, it's ridiculous.
and i won't let this go on any further.
let this line win you over.

woahh, let this line win you over.

rock and roll girl come outside tonight.
put your arms up in the moonlight.
we've been here before, we've been here before.

let this line win you over.
