

Rosanne Cash, I'll Change For You

(feat. Steve Earle)

I'll change for you.
I'll change for you.
I'll change for you.
I'll turn night into day.

An' I'll change for you. (I don't care what the books say.)
I'll change for you. (I don't care what my friends say.)
I'll change for you,
An' I won't make you pay.

'Cause everything reminds me of you.
A baby's feet, an old man's smile.
Silent scream and lover's cry,
Till I can't do nothing,

But change for you. (An' all the rules that were lies.)
I'll change for you. (I sit an' watch while they burn.)
I'll change for you.
I'll be all that you need.

'Cause everything reminds me of you.
A baby's feet, an old man's smile.
Silent scream and lover's cry,
Till I can't do nothing.
But change for you.

Instrumental break.

I'll lie by your side an' whisper your name.
I'll clock all your dreams and knock over rails.
I'll let go my past, write your name in my skin.
I'll travel through time to love you again.

An' I'll change for you. (I'll just wait for you wherever.)
I'll change for you. (An' watch you lean back too much.)
I'll change for you.
I'll turn night into day.

I'll change for you. (An' I'll give it my best.)
I'll change for you. (An' I won't stop till you rest.)
I'll change for you.
An' I won't make you pay.
