

Rosanne Cash, Land Of Nightmares

I love you till I just can't feel I need you till it makes me numb
We hang on a noose of subtle abuse like there's nothing to fear
Living in the land of nightmares
The ocean's calm outside my door the storm rages inside my head
In perfect control so no one could know I smile but I'm not even there
Living in the land of nightmares
[keyboards]
A vision full of sound and light I think she's holding back the night
With bitter desire she stoops to conspire she is the reason I'm here
Living in the land living in the land of nightmares