

Rosey, Cozy

cozy is a woman now, but she wants to be a girl again she don't care for all the people who tell her, she should be the way that they think it is she don't see them, she got better things to do with her eyes and no, she don't even need them, cause it's better, so much better right here inside when you stop looking for something, something you'll never find lemon is a girl again, she don't care what all the people say she got ribbons in her hair today and she walks around like she is it she don't see them, she got better things to do with her blue, blue eyes and no, she don't even believe them, it's better, so much better right here inside

when you stop looking for something, something you'll never find and no, she ain't got no money to spend and no fancy threads she shows off in and ain't got no man, but she's all right man she's outta sight!! cozy know she's better cause she's built her house right where she stands, she got big crops and no locks see the sun it shines down on everything!!! she ain't got no money to spend and no fancy threads to walk around in and no one to love her, but it's all right when you got it inside stop looking for something, something you'll never find! no, no more looking for something something you'll never find, you're just fine, fine fine! looking for something, something you'll never find
