

Rosi Golan, Come Around

So high tonight and I dont feel like coming down
I can lie to you all my days, But youre the one, youre the one
And Im a fool for waiting so long to let you know
Come around come around come around come around to me
Theres something in between you and I come around come around to me
You feel like breathing, Come around come around come around come around to me
Like sunlight, wont you come and lay a ray down? Youre the one.
I could run, I could run for the life of me.
But where would that get me? Where would that lead?
And Im a fool for waiting so long
Come around come around come around come around to me
Theres something in between you and I come around come around to me
You feel like breathing, Come around come around come around come around to me
Cant you see? Youre my life line
Come around come around come around come around to me
Theres something in between you and I come around come around to me
You feel like breathing, Come around come around come around come around to me
