

Roxette, Always Breaking My Heart

Is this what you want, every finger points at me
I'm eating your words, but are they really here for me?
I've tasted it before. You crashed at my door
You're bringing some hot stuff baby

So when you need me in the middle of the night
I won't be there cos you're always breaking my heart
You're always breaking my heart
You always tear it apart, yeah yeah yeah

So take off your shades, go get down on your knees and pray
But no powers from heaven could ever take the darkness away
My love rise on laughing mind. Love talks to the roses
But you bring 'em bad bad weather

And when you call me in the middle of the night, of the night
There's no one there cos you're always breaking my heart
You're always breaking my heart
You always tear it apart, yeah yeah yeah

Reach out a hand to hold. Ain't it sad when the distance grows
Two hearts cling to their fates. Hurry hurry don't be late
But I don't worry anymore

So when you need me in the middle of the night. Of the night
I won't be there cos you're always breaking my heart
You're always breaking my heart
You always tear it apart, oh yeah

You're always breaking my heart
You're always breaking my heart
You always tear it apart, yeah oh yeah
