

Roy Drusky, I'll Be Your Stepping Stone

You told me once just how my kisses thrilled you
Since that time there'd been many lips you've known
Now there you go again in love with someone new
So I'll just wait till you need your stepping stone
I'll be your stepping stone while you keep stepping on from him to him
I'll try to keep the pace just looking for a place in your heart within [steel]
In every step I wanna be there helping you for it's love not jealousy that hangs me on
When you walk out on him look where you're stepping
And darling please don't miss your stepping stone
I'll be your stepping stone...