

Roy Orbison, Baby's Gone

Baby's gone away, baby's gone away
Baby's gone away and left me lonely
Didn't say goodbye, didn't tell me why
Just left me here to cry with nothing but a memory.

The pain I feel inside is more than I can hide
I need her by my side, oh where can baby be
Won't somebody please bring her back to me
And She'll never be lonely anymore

A funny photograph that made all the gang laugh
Two tickets torn in half are only reminders
A ribbon from her hair, her little teddy bear
They're just waiting there for me to find her

I miss her so tonite, I long to hold her tight
I hope that she's alright, oh where can baby be?
Won't somebody please bring her back to me
And she'll never be lonely again
