

RPWL, Unchain The Earth

Look at the flower I raised
Wiser as I'll ever be
Look at the children
They plays the games we've forgot
Look at the trees in the wind
More solid then I ever be
Look at the rain poring down on our souls
Of the human race

I'm soldier of the war of our future
At the frontline on the verge of our minds
Marching on without direction
I can't find myself at the mirror of light

Let's go! The man chained the earth
We don't need the sun anymore
Do we have we know and we are
Striving for the last secret doors
So let's go. The man chained the earth
We don't need the sun anymore
Do we have we know and we are
Can't we compell the stars to revolve from our lost

Look at the birds in the sky
More free the I'll ever be
Heading straight into the the future
To fast to my thought to keep up
Coming I'm in my mind
No link between you and me
Here on the inside of my world
I don't need a light in the deep

I'm soldier of the war of our future
At the frontline on the verge of our minds
Marching on without direction
I can't find myself at the mirror of light

Let's go! The man chained the earth
We don't need the sun anymore
Do we have we know and we are
Striving for the last secret doors
So let's go. The man chained the earth
We don't need the sun anymore
Do we have we know and we are
Can't we compell the stars to revolve from our lost

We lifted the lid on the blueprint of our world
But had no idea how of it was meant to be
Faster and higher and futher we lost control
I'm soldier of the war of our future
At the frontline on the verge of our minds
Marching on without direction

Let's go! The man chained the earth
We don't need the sun anymore
Do we have we know and we are
Striving for the last secret doors
So let's go. The man chained the earth
We don't need the sun anymore
Do we have we know and we are
Can't we compell the stars to revolve from our lost