

Rufio, Dipshit

He said you want my heart in yours for some popularity,
but what am I?
She said I want you by my side to impress all above,
but it's true love.
Use your mind you dipshit.
I'm wondering why not just let me live,
on my own,
on my own.

Wrong,
what they said is wrong,
don't struggle; waste your energy, they're wrong.
What they said is wrong,
and this silence calms my ears.

Over and over I hear your voice calling out my name.
It's all jealousy.
You're adding questions to nothing.
You try to figure out our lives,
it's us you want to live.
Hold your tongue you dipshit.
I'm wondering why not just let me live,
on my own,
on my own.

Wrong,
what they said is wrong,
don't struggle; waste your energy, they're wrong.
What they said is wrong,
and this silence calms my ears

You're suffering is running thin.
There are changes in your face.
And asking for love isn't too much,
get a life and get another one to talk about

Wrong,
what they said is wrong,
don't struggle; waste your energy they're wrong.
What they said is wrong.
And this silence kills my ears.
