

Rufus Wainwright, Imaginary love

Every kind of love, or at least my kind of love Must be an imaginary love to start with Guess that can explain the rain, waiting walking game
Schubert bust my brain to start with Hoped to look at you in a cab Back of your head across my lap Oh what grace, green back seat against the red of your face
Hoped to look at you in any old grand hotel
Drunken demands gave way to reservations Oh what a room, champagne brings such happy faces, happy faces
'Cause every kind of love, or at least my kind of love
Must be an imaginary love to start with
Guess that can explain the rain, waiting
walking game
Schubert bust my brain to start with
