

Run Into The Shadows, 76 On My 67

You might say that I'm a bit outspoken.
But then again lets think, well look who's talking.
You might say that you never knew me.
But with these lies we lead, well you could never trust me.
I said, that you don't know who I am.
You think I'll never understand.
We've tried this over and over again.
But every time this always comes to an end.
So this will be the last time I try to make this right.
I'll leave this never-ending fight and clear my sight.
I'll clear my sight. You were my life. I'll say goodbye.
We live our lives on separate sides.
Just leave me here. I don't need you.
I've found myself through grace that's true.