Run Level Zero, Strapped to Machinery mental breakdown never so near never felt this way, suicidal you could grasp your future keep the smiles, praying eyes exploding minds turning into water let that be my salvation stab that word through my ears doing the dirty laundry time for redemption get on your knees give me pleasure fade fade away strapped to machinery pounding those distorted views licking the fluids from myself I feed from my mind no time to mourn never-ending hell