

Russell Watson, Pray For The Love

(Lyrics and music by Diane Warren)

I'm searching for the soul I'm meant to share my soul with I'm looking for the cure to this emptiness Sometimes it seems so out of reach finding the one, the one who completes me

So I pray for the love that will save me
So I wait for the hours that will lift me
So I wait for the eyes that will tell me

I am whole, I am whole
And I wait for my life to be changed with one look, one touch

I pray for the love

For somebody in my life to walk across this life with For someone to shield my heart from the loneliness Share all my dreams, share all my time wait for the one who's waiting to find me

So I pray for the love that will save me

Pray for the love
To fill my soul
You want to walk through this life all alone

So I pray for the love
