

Russell Watson, We Will Stand Together

(Lyrics by Angela Lupino, music by Sir Edward Elgar)

We will stand together
Even through the darkest hour
When the night seems never-ending
We know there will be a dawn for us

When the world seems broken
Broken like the hearts within us
Destiny will guide us and we'll dare to raise our eyes to heaven
God will light our way
We shall win the day
We shall win the day...

Then once again the glorious
We will emerge victorious
Until then hand in hand
We'll let history know that..

We will stand together
Even in the darkest moment
Destiny will guide us and we'll dare to raise our eyes to heaven
History will say..
We shall win the day
We shall win the day
We will stand together... till then.
