

Russell Watson, You'll Still Be There For Me

(lyrics by Russell Watson & Angela Lupino, music by Carter Burwell)
(based on the theme from the motion picture Rob Roy)

As the sun goes down
On another day
I know you'll still be there for me

I know how hard you try
I know your day is long
I can see it your eyes
Sometimes you can't go on
And yet still you're here for me

Places we have been
Sunsets we will see
Over seas and cross the lands
I know that you'll be there for me

As the sun goes down
And the times roll on
I know you'll still be there for me

Though there are nights so cold
I know your love it grows
And our hearts will never die
Two souls entwined as one
Like an endless galaxy

Like the stars that shine
In a moonlit sky
That reminds me of your eyes
As I gaze at thee

I know you'll still be there for me
