

Rx Bandits, High Skool

well, whoever tied the rope behind you has the keys you know inebriation is the place in parties that you go gives you fake security and makes you free to live your life but you live it to be superficial and we'll see that tonight you aren't any different then the people at your school you kids that see me rock the set think that we're the funny fools and the room of pleasure is all i can believe you envy others and they have no personality

come on baby let me show you what you got, yea for being part of the crowd come on baby let me show you what you got, yea let's be a part of the crowd well, ill take my insecurities and listen to the ska well i'm thinking that i think about it and i sing about it quite a lot i don't know what it's all about, but i know it's cool and i know i can do it because i'm in high school only in high school your driving around in daddy's new car you think that you're a pimp you think that you're the bomb you know that i'm right you know that you're wrong but you know what you can do because your doing it, doing it now keeping up the drug war give me some sugar baby i'll get laid and i'm fucking drunk now you are all screwed up and what can you say with a baby in your arms there is no more play what's wrong with you but you go and do what your friends do and you, you don't know what's going on with you so take warning, take warning take warning my best friend because i don't want to see you left with a fall high school

well, whoever tied the rope behind you has the keys you know
inebriation is the place in parties that you go
gives you fake security and makes you free to live your life
but you live it to be superficial and we'll see that tonight
you aren't any different then the people at your school
you kids that see me rock the set think that we're the funny fools
and the room of pleasure is all i can believe
you envy others and they have no personality