

Rx Bandits, Now Or Never

I can't wait forever maybe i can't wait all night last time that she kissed me her boyfriend blacked my eye she left in the morning I got no goodbye but theres no use for crying it's the story of my life nothing left to say no holding back can't seem to staunch this heart attack what you could say well it ain't right but you won't see through this harsh reality it something you never know you left behind under the cover of darkness you can light your summer sparking we can start this journey to embark on a mission a vision of unity and peace put your mind in my hands a total escape from your problems from searching everything your facing all alone in this world a dog without a bone to come home to you are alone, you got no money for the phone so whatcha gonna do you know that it's right (who can tell me)

who's to say I'm wrong (it's not your life) opinionated world leave me alone what i need to see through this harsh reality is that now or never