Ryan Adams, Faithless Street

If angels are messengers from god, Please send one down to me If angels are messengers from god, I wrote a letter he should read

Been living on faithless street all by myself Work your whole life for someone else Trying to find sanction, Christ above man He never shed his peace on this land So I started this damn country band

Been living on faithless street all by myself Work your whole life for someone else Trying to find sanction, Christ above man He never shed his peace on this land So I started this damn country band Cause punk rock was too hard to sing.

Been living on faithless street all by myself Work your whole life for someone else Trying to find sanction, Christ above man He never shed his peace on this land So I started this damn country band