Ryan Adams, The Sun Also Sets

When you get the time Sit down and write me a letter When you're feeling better Drop me a line

I wanna know how it all works out I had a feeling we were fading out

I didn't know that people faded out so fast

And that people faded out

When there was love enough left to fix it

But, there it is

There it is, we are only one push from the nest There it is, we are only one push from the nest.

There it is, the sun rises

But the sun sets, the sun also sets

When you get these feelings

Next time, next time

Oh, be sure

You're gonna tear someone apart

I wanna know how it all works out

I had a feeling we were fading out

I didn't know that people faded out

That people faded out so fast

I wanna show you what i've got inside

But you know those parts of me died

Just like that, they faded out

They faded out so fast

And there was love enough left to fix it

But, there it is

There it is, we are only one shove from the nest

There it is, we are only one argument from deaf

There it is, we are only one moment from death

There it is, we are only one push from the nest

There it is, there it is

There it is, we are only one push from the nest

There it is, we are only one moment from death

The sun rises

But the sun also sets, the sun sets, the sun also sets
