Ryan Matthew, Guilty

Here comes the razor of doubt, here comes the falling out

Here comes the wave and the turn, here comes the crash and the burn

Here comes I'm sick of crying, here comes man I quit trying

Here come I hate you and I'm giving back all that you gave to me

Here comes the baited hook, here comes the bones that you shook

Here comes the dread and denial, here's where you've been all the while

Here comes I'm sick of groveling, here comes the only thing that ever happens

Here comes I hate you and I'm giving back all that you gave to me

Cause lately I've been dreaming of angels and cranes

In some kind of purgatory dodging the CIA

With a head full of soot, waving black flags

Throwing off the bodies just to cut down on the drag

Take 'em to the desert or take 'em to a dried up well

Tell 'em they're in heaven and mutter &guot; welcome to hell. &guot;

I've been guilty of all these things

Here comes the razor of doubt, here comes the falling out

Here comes the wave and the turn, here comes the crash and burn

Here comes I'm sick of groveling, here comes the only thing that ever nappened

Here comes I hate you and I'm burning all that you gave to me

Cause lately I've been dreaming of angels and cranes

In some kind of purgatory dodging the CIA

With a head full of soot, waving black flags

Throwing off the bodies just to cut down on the drag

Take 'em to the desert or take 'em to a dried up well

Tell 'em they're in heaven and mutter, " welcome to hell."

I've been guilty of all these things

I need someone to save me

Someone to save me

I need someone to save me

Someone to save me

I need someone to save me

Someone to save me

I need someone to say to me that everything is gonna be alright