

Sacrilege, A Violation Of Something Sacred

With blatant deception they rape the fields of life,
With brutal destruction enforcing hatred and strife,
They take beauty in their hands yet put back only pain,
Their bigotry and greed has always been the same.
With blind acceptance with swallow all their lies,
Engulfe
d by their hatred we learn only to despise,
They have nothing in their arrogance, their narrow minded stance,
But they won't open up their eyes to even give it just a chance.
