

Sagisu Shiro, Promised Land - Loren & Mash Studio

There's a reason, we gotta let each other know
Y'gotta give respect to the other people
Sometimes it ain't easy, you work your fingers to the bone
The you find you gotta climb another mountain
Look at all the children, the girls and boys ain't got no choice
They have to play the hand that life has dealt them
There should be no friction, no divide, should be color-blind
Gotta be a game that we can play together
We live and we learn
With heart and soul and mind
You can't control your destiny
To fight to the death
Right to the bitter end
Doesn't have to be the way
And from your mistakes
You've got to take the breaks
You've got to find a better way
Let's make a master plan
To take us to the promised land
