Sagisu Shiro, Promised Land - Loren & Mash Stu

There's a reason, we gotta let each other know Y'gotta give respect to the other people Sometimes it ain't easy, you work your fingers to the bone The you find you gotta climb another mountain Look at all the children, the girls and boys ain't got no choice They have to play the hand that life has dealt them There sould be no friction, no divide, should be color-blind Gotta be a game that we can play together We live and we learn With heart and soul and mind You can't control your destiny To fight to the death Right to the bitter end Doesn't have to be the way And from your mistakes You've got to take the breaks You've got to find a better way Let's make a master plan To take us to the promised land
