

Sahara, Circles

When you wake up in the morning got the daylight in your eye do you feel that the sun is warming up your body as you lie still in your bed you're just feeling fine
'cause you got your lady by your side she is your pride

See her lying there beside you like an angel looks her face full of dreams she'll never tell you if she did she would lose her grace she is a dreamer don't ever ask her 'bout her dreams even if she loves you so she would rather go

Never try to strip your lady's mind or try to arrange that she is just your kind if you really love that girl more than everything in the world let 'em be the circles of her mind

So when you wake up one morning and find out that your baby's gone you didn't hear the warning that I tried to give you in this song you are a dreamer never tried to understand that all she needed was a guiding friend not a bending hand
