

Sahlene, Just Another Day

I have been waiting for so long
For something new to come
For a change in my life
And I have been trying for some time
To forget about you
But I can't say I'm rational
I don't really miss what we had
But some of the moments we shared

Chorus

It's just another day
Just another ordinary day
What difference does it make
That I have become aware
Of my mistakes
I need a new beginning
With open arms I will embrace
A most needed change
Come what may

What's done can never be undone
I've got to live my life
With the choices I've made
But I must admit to myself
That I still care about you
But I guess it's too late now
I know it was not working out
But were we giving up
Too easy on the fight

Chorus

And since you've gone
I've starting wondering if I'm wrong
And I won't say I know
That loneliness really
Makes you stronger
Got no one else to blame
My choice is made
I was the one to let you go
Now I miss you so

Chorus
