

Sam Brown, Walking Back To Me

Slipping away 'til it's dim in the dark the flame that was strong has become just a spark but i'll wait for you

Now when we talk your eyes look away the thing that we had has wandered astray I'll wait for you

Further and further we're drifting apart we knew this would happen right from start but i'll wait for you caught up in troubles that don't mean a thing you're ready to fly for a prayer on a wing
but i'll wait for you

Say you were never in love with me but i'll still wait for you

Oh it's just the way it's meant to be you tell me no but in won't be long before you see you're walking back to me

The road you are following it's a dead end and who will be there when you need a real friend I will wait

how are we gonna get back to the start they're too close to home these matters of heart

Say you were never in love with me

you tell me no but in won't be long before you see

Ducking and diving sneaking and hiding these worries

and these troubles

don't you know

they'll catch up with you you're walking back

you're walking back to me
