Sam Smith, Good Thing

I had a dream I was mugged outside your house I had a dream in a panic you came running out For a moment you were sure I'd die on you For a moment I believed you loved me too But life is never like this, and you're never strong

Too much of a good thing won't be good for long Although you made my heart sing, to stay with you would be wrong Too much of a good thing won't be good anymore Watch where I tread before I fall

We'd talk maybe 20 times a day And still I never say what I want to say I thought I wouldn't need to I quess I read you wrong

Too much of a good thing won't be good for long Although you made my heart sing, to stay with you would be wrong Too much of a good thing won't be good anymore Watch where I tread before I fall

You refuse to see this, don't see it anymore I have made the decision not to answer your calls Cause I put everything out there and I got nothing at all

Too much of a good thing isn't good and you know I watch where I walk before I fall Before I fall
