

Sam Smith, The Lighthouse Keeper build yourself a boat, babe make yourself a sail float into the ocean

to nowhere

i see you looking looking for a sign praying for a beacon so here's the light

my arms will be wide open for the moment you arrive, arrive

when you set sail on your journey and happiness is far away love will guide you till the morning lead your heart down to the bay don't resist the rain and storm i'll never leave you lost at sea i will be your lighthouse keeper bring you safely home to me
bring you safely home

i see you lonely going it alone
fire up the engine and stoke the coal floating on a feeling fighting with the tide hoping you'll be home for Christmas time
