

Samiam, Just Another

We grew up together strong.

No fights, we knew each other thoughts.

Those feelings that I can express are words that aren't supposed to be said I guess.

If we are not the ones then who to say what's wrong or right?

If now is not the time when will the right moment come?

There too many people talking in their sleep.

It sounds like they're speaking in tongues.

If we're together we won't drown.