

Samiam, Sunshine

monday
sunshine
so high it's hard to see through the sunday clouds still lingering how you wound up in the sea spinning above
while burning inside
further you go and deeper you dive don't mean to deceive
but it's they who believe they fall in love with the girl they perceive not you blind them with kindness until they are reminding they're lonely and desperate and you have a secret it's something they all think they need spinning above and burning inside
further you go and deeper you dive
don't mean to deceive
but it's they who believe
they fall in love with the girl they perceive not you they see what they want in you they get what they need from you they take advantage of you they would be nothing without you