Sandie Shaw, Jeane

Jeane

Jeane

The low-life has lost its appeal
And I'm tired of walking these streets
To a room with a cupboard bare

Jeane

I'm not sure what happiness means But I look in your eyes And I know That it isn't there

We tried, we failed We tried, and we failed We tried and we failed We tried and we failed We tried

Jeane

There's ice on the sink where we bathe So how can you call this a home When you know it's a grave?

But you still hold a greedy grace As you tidy the place But it'll never be clean Jeane

We tried, we failed We tried, and we failed We tried and we failed We tried and we failed We tried

Oh...

Cash on the nail It's just a fairytale Oh... And I don't believe in magic anymore Jeane

But I think you know I really think you know Oh...
I think you know the truth Jeane Oh...

No heavenly choir
Not for me and not for you
Because I think that you know
I really think you know
I think you know the truth
Jeane

That we tried, and we failed That we tried, and we failed We tried and we failed We tried and we failed Jeane
