

Saosin, Bury Your Head (Acoustic)

Are you feeling fine? You'll be coming clean tonight
And I'll be falling down with you, once again
Call me your valentine, but call me once tonight
I will then say it's okay

The things you've said, I'm rehearsing them
And the things you said, I'm rehearsing them

They went back on us
And I could know when to come on to it
Its the thought that emerges
And I could never love the ion change

Bury your head, and the child smashed you down
When the steps you shouldn't call me again
You fall down below
And Ill sleep tonight, knowing youre okay
And I will then say it's okay

The things you've said, Im rehearsing them,
The things you said, Im rehearsing them,

They went back on us
And I could know when to come on to it
Its the thought that emerges
And I could never love the ion change

They have been the ones who've seen enough
This is what you call love?

And they stole my lies
You were right before
And they wanted to run around all night
They stole my lies
Stole it all
They have been the ones to see enough

They went back on us
(Closed eyes rolled back couldn't step it up)
I could know when to come on to it
Its the thought that emerges
(Take back couldn't step it up)
I could never love the ion change